Bentley University Programs for International Graduate Students

There are four types of programs/services available for international graduate students at Bentley University: orientation programs, transitional courses, academic & professional development workshops, and language support services.

1. Orientation Programs and resources – are designed to help students manage expectations while in an American graduate business school. Students attend workshops, classes and seminars. Orientation programs include:
   - Cultural Transition Program (2 weeks) $2600 USD
   - International Student Jumpstart pre-orientation
   - English Language Assessment (ELA) (Required)
   - The Center for International Students and Scholars (CISS) assists with visa advising as well as cultural adjustment.

2. Transitional Courses – are acculturation courses that combine English language support with academic content. These optional programs are offered each summer and are fee based.
   - Academic Edge online program $100 USD
   - Cultural Transition Program $2,600 USD

3. Academic and Professional Development Workshops – are structured to provide practical information through hands-on activities that are designed to build students awareness of American academic and professional expectations and behaviors. Some workshops will be required based on your ELA results and may be fee based.
   - AC 730 Supplemental Support Coursework
   - Success Factor Series Course (10 weeks) $1,000 USD
   - Professional Skills Development Workshops $150 USD
   - Graduate Career Development Intensive Seminars 101 & 201

4. Language Support Services – are one-on-one English language services offered throughout the year.
   - English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) Center / Graduate Tutorials
   - Conversation Partners Program
