

Diversity and Society

Diversity is a fundamental aspect of modern society and our everyday lives. This diversity offers the opportunity to enrich our lives through exposure to people with diverse backgrounds and experiences. At the same time, diversity can be a challenge as we meet others unlike us, and work out issues of accommodation, acceptance and equality for diverse groups. One of the great challenges of our time is to achieve a society that is integrative of diversity and provides for equal opportunity such that diversity enriches rather than divides. The Diversity and Society LSM will provide students with an understanding of this challenge through exposure to a broad range of topics and disciplines, all of which are united by a concern regarding diversity and equality. This can allow the student to extend an understanding of diversity beyond society and into the organization, as well as an appreciation and understanding of how diversity can productively and positively contribute to our everyday lives.

To complete the Diversity and Society LSM, students shall do the following:

- Select three courses from the Social Diversity unit, which will provide the student with an awareness of the general social processes that lead to increased diversity;
- Select two courses from the Domestic Diversity Perspectives course list;
- Select two courses from the Global Diversity Perspective course list;
- Select one course from either the Domestic Diversity or Global Diversity units.

Students should consult with their LSM advisor when selecting courses. LSMs must have at least 6 courses taken in A&S departments, and no more than 4 courses may be taken in any one discipline.
